CUMMINS LOOMS UP

The Boom for the Iowa Governor Received Much Consideration Yesterday in Chicago

PRESIDENT APPROVES HIM

Senator Borah Heard by Telephone From Washington on That the Hawkeye Man Would be Acceptable

A Western Radical a Necessity If the Injunction Plank Fails, the Administration Adherents Believe

He Probably Will Accept

The Belief Is That While the Governor Is Not an Avowed Candidate, He Will Not Refuse the Nomination

Chicago, June 17.—It was the popular impression tonight among the delegates and with politicians that progress had been blocked in the matter of selecting a vice president. It was the impression also that the move was one which originated in Washington and was being engineered here by the friends of the President.

The committee on order of business also is in an ugly snarl over the proposed reduction of Southern representation. While these controversies are being waged the mind of the delegates is being diverted from the subject of the vice presidency. And this is exactly what the managers for Secretary Taft desire. They want the candidates and the platform to represent a harmonious whole and for political purposes they want one to supplement the other. The candidacy of Vice President Fairbanks for renomination does not fit in with the administration plan. It is possible, of course, that the delegates will nominate Fairbanks anyhow, but the popular impression is tonight that a candidate will be brought forward who will fit in with the platform, which now is certain to be adopted.

President Roosevelt conferred over the telephone today with Senator Borah of Idaho and confirmed the statement sent by the Associated Press that either Cummins or Dolliver would be satisfactory to him for the vice presidency. This information was conveyed to members of the Iowa delegation and produced consternation among the standpatters on that delegation. Lafayette Young of Des Moines, the most violent of the Cummins crowd, when informed of the President's position, said:

"What should be done is to run Cummins for vice president on the democratic ticket."

The position taken by the Dolliver-Allison faction puts them in a dog-in-the-manger attitude, and the Cummins factionists are rejoiced at the opportunity given the public for understanding the "standpatter's" methods. One of the Cummins supporters on the state delegation said today:

"The standpatters have declared that one of their own number shall not be chosen for vice president. Now they say that one of our number shall not be made vice president. They are determined that Iowa shall go without representation on the national ticket because they cannot see where their own faction is to be benefited by it. Their first argument was that the advocacy of Dolliver was merely a Cummins trick in order to make a senatorial vacancy. They said we wanted to get Dolliver out of state politics. Now the opportunity is presented of putting Cummins on the national ticket and the same statements, if applied to Cummins, would take him out of state politics. The action of the Dolliver men is going to make Iowa democratic if continued and my opinion is that before this convention has adjourned these very men will be made to see the necessity of recognizing Cummins in order to save the state. Not one word will be heard from Governor Cummins. We are sending him no dispatches and are receiving none. He is willing to trust his case in our

IT'S TAFT

Chicago, June 18, 3:30 p. m.
Special to Evening News.

Representative Theodore Burton of Cleveland, Ohio, has just concluded the nominating speech in behalf of William Taft as the republican candidate for president of the United States and republican pandemonium has broken loose in the big Chicago coliseum. It appears that more than half of the delegates seated in the center of the 15,000 mass of cheering humanity have gone Taft mad and are doing their utmost to stampede the balance by rushing up and down the aisles waving banners and displaying all the enthusiasm that such a momentous occasion can be brought to inspire. Bird McGuire when the nominating speech was concluded, grabbed the now famous flag of Oklahoma, waved it aloft, sprang at the head of the Oklahoma delegation and charged the convention.

Before the blotting begins, Hughes of New York, Fairbanks of cock-tail fame, Boss Cannon of Danville and Lafollette, the radical are to be nominated. None have withdrawn their candidacy. It is thought that all nominating speeches will be concluded by 6 o'clock. It is confidently thought by the Taft leaders that the big giant will be nominated on the first ballot.

It remains uncertain still as to who will receive the vice presidential nomination. It looks like Cummins or Dolliver of Iowa. The consideration of who should be selected for the second place has consumed much time and engendered much ill feeling. It appears that it is determined to select as radical republican as possible. The anti-injunction clause in modified and conservative manner went into the republican platform.

WORK RESUMED

OKLAHOMA PORTLAND CEMENT
PLANT WILL START AGAIN
FULL BLAST SATURDAY

The Oklahoma Portland Cement Company will start its plant full blast again next Saturday. They have been shut down temporarily on account of water but now that everything is again in good shape so far as water is concerned, they will start again. This will be good news to the employees of the plant and is hailed with joy by every citizen of Ada. A pay roll of several thousand dollars per month lost would be felt in Ada and if the plant had been shut down for any length of time it would have been almost a calamity.

If the weather remains good it will only be the work of a few days to complete the repairs at the reservoir which are under headway and the cement plant resuming work puts every Ada industry back to its normal condition before the washout. All employees of the plant will be expected to report for work Saturday morning.

CUT WEEDS AND GET CLEAN

The citizens generally will recognize the urgency of the requirement of the city physician and the propriety of the mayor's proclamation that the weeds of the city be cut and a generally more sanitary condition sustained throughout the corporate limits.

The continuity of the reign of J. Pluvius forecasts a season of physical ailments as well as a period of mental depression and depleted purses and burdened hearts. All these things happening at once would be quite enough to make decidedly obnoxious the usual anti-suicide clause in the ordinary life insurance policies the premiums for which are continually maturing. Let Ada continue to be one of the healthiest communities in the great southwest. Cleaning up Ada will be conducive to our good health and protective of our conscience. Good health and good conscience in this city of substantial prospect and country of rare offerings for successful business achievement ought to sustain us through this era of flood diversity. Cut the weeds. Get clean.

URGENT REQUIREMENT

Notice From City Health Officers to Cut Weeds

Notice is hereby given to every citizen and householder in the city, that owing to the continued rains it is highly important that every precaution be taken to prevent the formation of stagnant pools of mud and water and the growth of weeds. Much sickness will probably result if these precautions are not taken. Every citizen is therefore requested to cut all the weeds about the place occupied by him, and to drain his premises the best he can. The city officers have been ordered to give their special attention to this matter, and to file criminal cases against all persons who fail to comply with the city ordinances on this subject within the next few days.

Respectfully,
M. W. Ligon, City Physician.

ROACH'S BROTHER DEAD

Albert Cunningham, Well Known in Southern Oklahoma, Passes Away in Dallas

Popular fellow townsman, H. B. Roach, received a message Wednesday afternoon from his brother, Mr. W. A. Roach at Dallas, Texas, conveying the regrettable information that their brother-in-law, Mr. Albert Cunningham, who is well and favorably known in this section and one of the more substantial citizens of Dallas, had become critically ill following a serious operation and requesting him to come at once. Later, and before Mr. Roach could secure transportation opportunity to Dallas, a message came that his brother-in-law was dead.

The News extends sympathy and condolence.

Gwin-Sims

A most beautiful social function on Wednesday evening, June 17th, was the marriage of Mr. Edwin Gwin to Miss Birdie Sims. The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Sims, in the presence of intimate friends. Rev. T. L. Rippey, in his easy impressive manner officiated.

The guests were reminded, as the gentle strain of a violin solo rendered by Mrs. Harry McReynolds fell on the ear, that the sacred moment had arrived. A beautiful vocal solo, "I Love You," was sung by Mrs. Carlton Weaver. The bridal party was appropriately ushered in to the sweet strains of the wedding march by Mrs. T. P. Holt, the groom advancing on the arm of his best man, Mr. C. J. Warren from one door, while the little flower girl, Dorothy Mills led from an opposite direction the maid of honor, Miss Ula Clare Simms, sister of the bride, beautifully gowned in white, carrying pink roses. Next came the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr. Bernard Sims joining the groom before an improvised altar of trailing vines and ferns. The bride always attractive, was beautiful as the soft folds of her white wedding gown fell softly about her. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. After congratulations, the bridal party, with the guests, were ushered into the dining room where delightful refreshments were served.

The bridegroom whose good fortune it has been to woo and win this most enviable prize is one of Ada's most popular young men socially and a business man of influence and achievement. Hailing from Tennessee a few years ago, the state where everything is of the best, how could we expect less.

Mrs. Gwin numbers her friends by the score and is loved most by those who know her best.

Quite a number of beautiful and useful presents attested the popularity of this young couple.

Those out of town attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sims from Hartshorn, and Mr. McReynolds, daughter and son from Paris Texas.

These contracting parties in this nuptial affair are held in most cordial esteem by the entire News connection and best wishes and congratulations are extended.

MASS MEETING TONIGHT

Last night the committees appointed to arrange for the picnic on the 4th of July met in the 25,000 Club rooms and decided to call a mass meeting of the citizens for tonight, to either call the picnic off or go on with it. Considerable talk was made on both sides of the question, some wanting the picnic, and others wanting to postpone and join the Old Soldiers in their celebration on the 21st-22nd-23rd of July. Come out tonight and see what we are going to do.

Also the famous Cotton Belt team of Tyler, Texas will play three games here on their tour of Oklahoma this summer. Good games is what the people of Ada are going to expect and it looks like that is what they are going to have.

"MR. DOOLEY" ON FUNERALS.

Joyous Occasion in City Boy's Life, According to Humorist.

"When I was a little boy, I clasped funerals among the greatest of my adventures. They gave me a ride in a hack through parts of town that I'd never seen before and out into the country where I never went except I was invited to a funeral, and I had joyful company and something to eat different from what I got at home. Looking back on how I felt when I was a kid, I can't remember that any distant relation made himself unpopular with us by dying. Even if I wasn't let go to a funeral there was something exciting about it. It stirred up the neighborhood. There was something to talk about. Everybody asked: 'Did he leave anything?' as if the poor man was a burglar or a fire. People got out their good clothes and dusted off their high hats. On the day of the funeral all the children in the neighborhood gathered around the house and envied their little playmates that had the luck to lose a fond parent."—F. P. Dunne, in American Magazine.

The Road to Content.

It is frequently said that a family can live for much less in England than in America, although the details are seldom given in support of the statement. A committee of representative English workmen, which visited America not long ago, has reported that there is practically no difference in the price of food in the two countries, and that in some parts of England provisions are more expensive than in New York. Rent is higher here than in Great Britain. But even with the greater rent the American workman is better off, for his wages are so much higher than those paid on the other side that, as the committee has reported, the American can save two dollars as easily as the Englishman 50 cents. The contented workman is the one who saves 50 cents or two dollars, rather than the one who complains that his wages are so small that he can save nothing. The newspapers noted the death the other day of a man in Scotland who had never earned more than eight dollars a week, yet had educated two of his five children well enough for them to enter the learned professions, and had a surplus of movable property worth $2,000. There is in a New England town, relates the Youths' Companion, a shoe-worker who, when he was a young man, resolved that he would save enough out of his wages to be able to retire and live on his interest at the age of 60. He retired at the age of 58, with a home and a competency; yet he never received more than $15 a week. It is men of this type the world over who are the bone and sinew of their respective countries. In democracies such as England and America they control in a real sense the national policies. The cost of living does not trouble them very much, for they have schooled themselves to adjusting their immediate wants to the necessity of providing for a future when they may rest from their labors.

Small sympathy need be expended on the New Yorkers who were taken in by fake pictures, which they imagined were works of art over which old masters had labored, whereas they were copies by art students. If a New Yorker or anyone else desires to spend his money for art rather than for art let him do so, but if he admires the pictures of the old masters for their great beauty and superior merit, where is the harm if he gets one of the same kind, only more beautiful and several hundred years fresher? Indeed, we have long thought that the printing presses should be started up, so that everybody who desired them could have the old masters. We do not see why a line of old masters should not be put on the market which would make the originals look as if they had been dragged from a second-hand store.

On the other hand, Canon Jephson, a member of the Mosely commission, which recently visited the United States, controverts the statement of Sir William Henry Preece that the American boy is mentally two years ahead of the European boy. According to Canon Jephson the American boy's progress is retarded by the American system of co-education and the preponderance of American women teachers. This is rather hard on the American schoolmarm, though we have lately heard the same idea expressed on this side of the water by some of our own educators. So, remarks the Boston Herald, the Jephson utterance can scarcely be termed a casus belli.

Benefits from the American rule in Cuba continue to be manifested. Dr. Doty, health officer of the port of New York, has just returned from a visit to the island, which he reports in exceptionally clean and healthful condition, so that certificates from the physicians in charge in Havana will be sufficient to admit passengers from that city to New York without inspection at the latter port. Cuba under present rules and regulations is no longer a standing alarm against serious and death-dealing disease.

The South Orange (N. J.) council has passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for a dog to bark between midnight and sunrise. Isn't the South Orange council a little unreasonable? BAD ITCHING HUMOR.

Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw—Feet Swollen—Sleep Broken—Cured in 2 Days by Cuticura.

"Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. For two or three weeks the suffering was intense and during that time I did not sleep an hour at a time. Then one morning I tried a bit of Cuticura. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. George B. Farley, 50 South State St., Concord, N. H., May 14, 1907."

JUST A TOUCH OF SATIRE.

Little Note That Probably Made Mean Employer Wince.

Prof. Charles Zueblin, the brilliant and original sociologist of the University of Chicago, enunciated before the League of Political Education in New York a superb epigram:

"He who begins with saving to protect his family may end with neglecting his family to save."

Discussing the dangers of immoderate saving Prof. Zueblin said the other day:

"It's by saving immoderately that we come to inserting want advertisements like one I saw recently: 'Wanted, capable office boy; salary, $1 a week.'"

"A young man of Seminary avenue, noticing this advertisement, couldn't resist replying to it. His reply ran: 'I beg to offer you my services. Should you require a premium I could furnish $500. You do not mention Sundays—should I have to work on that day? Neither do you state whether the applicant must be clothed or not, but I have concluded that he must at least wear trousers, or he would be unable to carry home his wages.'"

Triumph of Mind.

Victim of Delusion—Doctor, I'm awfully afraid I'm going to have brain fever.

Doctor—Pooh, pooh, my dear friend! That's all an illusion of the senses. There is no such thing as fever. You have no fever, you have no brain—no material substance upon which such a wholly imaginary and supposititious thing as a fever could find any base of operation.

Victim—Oh, doctor, what a load you have taken from me—from me—I have a mind, haven't I, doctor?

THE FIRST TASTE

Learned to Drink Coffee When a Baby.

If parents realized the fact that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which is especially harmful to children, they would doubtless hesitate before giving the babies coffee to drink.

"When I was a child in my mother's arms and first began to nibble things at the table, mother used to give me sips of coffee. As my parents used coffee exclusively at meals I never knew there was anything to drink but coffee and water."

"And so I contracted the coffee habit early. I remember when quite young, the continual use of coffee so affected my parents that they tried roasting wheat and barley, then ground it in the coffee-mill, as a substitute for coffee."

"But it did not taste right and they went back to coffee again. That was long before Postum was ever heard of. I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work, I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence."

"At night, after having coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous."

"A friend persuaded me to try Postum. My wife and I did not like it at first, but later when 'boiled good and strong it was fine. Now we would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever tasted."

MRS. WILLIAM TAFT

SOMETHING REGARDING WIFE OF SECRETARY OF WAR.

Keenly Interested in Art, Music, Literature and Education—Did Year's Shopping in Paris in Three Hours.

Washington.—"What kind of a woman is Mrs. Taft?" is a question which is being asked in that large area of the country where public opinion centers on the national Republican convention to be held soon in Chicago.

There are many definitions to be given in replying to the question, for Mrs. Taft is a many-sided woman interested in various things.

The government's attitude toward art and music is a pregnant theme in every community, and Mrs. Taft is keenly interested in all that means the practical aid of both. "But I cannot say that I think the time is ripe to ask for government aid. The work along both lines must take a more definite character," said Mrs. Taft to the writer.

"But I am heartily in favor of the government taking the tax off works of art as a preliminary step to aid the arts and crafts industry."

"I have always believed that women should vote. I favor bestowing on them every civic right, but I should like to put in a prohibitory clause debarring them from running for public office. With women running for public office, I think the natural scheme would be disjointed and the end and aim of the home destroyed."

Mrs. Taft devotes some part of every day to the study of languages, French and Spanish being her favorites. Few mistresses of the White House have known the continental tongues, something which has prevented a familiar knowledge of that fascinating part of society in Washington, the diplomatic corps. She is well equipped in this particular. She reads musical reviews from every part of the world where music is a power, in addition to magazines devoted to public questions and the best current literature.

Foreign travel after reading and music is Mrs. Taft's delight. She talks most entertainingly of her recent sojourn in the orient, and never wearies of relating the incidents and adventures of the journey across the Pacific, through the Philippines, China and Japan, thence across the Siberian railroad to St. Petersburg.

"I am very proud of the fact," she said, "that owing to stress of time, I accomplished the impossible—that is, what most people will designate the impossible. I had but three hours to spend in Paris, yet I shopped for a year, bought lingerie gowns, hats and other garments, not only for myself, but for my daughter and some friends who had entrusted me with commissions."

"I telegraphed to a firm with which I had dealt and asked to have these things ready for inspection. I jumped in a cab on arriving in Paris, and went directly to the store. I tried on things, was fitted, measured and generally inspected for the outer garments in less than an hour, and all the remaining time I could look at novelties and select the smaller things."

"It is not a soothing experience for one's nerves, but still, shopping for a year can be accomplished in three hours when necessary."

Mrs. Taft is attractive in appearance and very girlish. She is tall and slender with deep gray eyes and soft brown hair, has a frank, pleasant manner in conversation, and talks straight to the point.

There are three children in the Taft family, Robert, who is 19, and in the sophomore year at Yale; Miss Helen, who will be 17 in the autumn, who is about to graduate from the Baldwin school at Bryn Mawr, and who has elected to spend four years more at school, if her mother will consent, and Charles P. Taft, second, ten years old and named after his uncle, the millionaire editor of Cincinnati. "Charlie Boy," as he is fondly called at home, kept a faithful diary of his recent tour around the world, and it would make pleasant reading if his father would consent to its publication.

Mrs. Taft is the daughter of Judge Herron, law partner of President Hayes, of Cincinnati, and she passed part of her girlhood in Washington as the guest of Mrs. Hayes in the White House.

SMALLEST HOUSE ON LARGE LOT.

Structure Was Transformed from Photograph Car by Old Couple.

Chicago.—The smallest and oddest abode that occupies a whole building lot in all Chicago may be found at 10518 Calhoun avenue, South Deering. This structure has just been completed by Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Trow, who at an advanced age are living the happiest kind of life in the one and only home they ever have been able to call their own.

Originally the upper part of the structure was the cab of a photograph car that had been rolled through the country and which had made stands in half the states of the union. The Trows bought the car on wheels for $90. They rolled it into a corner of a big coal yard and lived in it for two years. Then the husband, who is in the employ of the Illinois Steel Company, bought a lot on Calhoun avenue. The vehicle was hauled out of the coal yard and backed in on the big lot. There the body of the car was jacked up about six feet and a new story built under it. The original entrance is still accessible, made so by constructing a stairway to what is now the second story.

In this little building Mr. and Mrs. Trow have cast to the winds all custom as to interior arrangements. The first room is the kitchen, the parlor and bedroom being in one at the rear. The entire car was originally about 18 feet long, eight feet wide and eight feet high, and these dimensions have neither been increased nor diminished since the cab was hoisted off its trucks excepting for the making of the lower floor. The home as it now stands cost the Trows less than $300, including the lot, which is 25 feet wide and 125 feet deep.

The happy pair who are occupying this odd little home are both English. Mr. Trow having been born in Staffordshire and the wife in Lancashire. They have been in this country 25 years.

DELEGATE TO ARCTIC CONGRESS.

H. L. Bridgman Will Represent United States at Gathering.

New York.—H. L. Bridgman, who has been appointed by the president the delegate to the arctic exploration congress to be held in Europe this summer, is the publisher of the Brooklyn Standard Union. He has been much interested in arctic exploration for many years and was the historian of the Peary expedition of 1894 and in command of the Peary relief expeditions of 1899 and 1901. He was delegate to the arctic congress of 1906 at Brussels.

Ever Do This?

A Washington artist was showing a visitor through his rooms one day, pointing out the various objects of peculiar interest, when the caller stopped before an antique clock, which, just at that moment, had struck the half-hour.

"Do you know," asked the visitor, "I've often wondered what was the use of a clock that strikes every half-hour?"

"Well," said the artist, after a slight pause of reflection, "it has this advantage: If you are lying awake at night and hear it strike one three-half-hours in succession, you know that when you hear it again it will be two o'clock."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Pacific Coast Fishing Industry.

The fishing industry of the Pacific coast during 1907 exceeded $26,000,000 in value, according to the statistics of the Pacific Fisherman. The pack of canned salmon during 1907 for the whole coast was 4,015,169 cases, as compared with 3,817,316 cases in 1906. The pack in Alaska was exceeded in only one other year, that of 1902.

Angry Citizen Put Ordeal Up to Street Car Company.

Not long ago there entered the office of the superintendent of a trolley line in Detroit an angry citizen, demanding "justice" in no uncertain terms.

In response to the official's gentle inquiry touching the cause of the demand, the angry citizen explained that on the day previous as his wife was boarding one of the company's cars, the conductor thereof had stepped on his spouse's dress, tearing from it more than a yard of material. "I can't see that we are to blame for that," protested the superintendent. "What do you expect us to do, get her a new dress?"

"No, sir, I do not," rejoined the angry citizen, brandishing a piece of cloth. "What I propose is that you people shall match this material."—Harper's Weekly.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of

to conquer all female diseases. Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

CUMMINS LOOMS UP

The Boom for the Iowa Governor Received Much Consideration Yesterday in Chicago

PRESIDENT APPROVES HIM

Senator Borah Heard by Telephone From Washington on That the Hawkeye Man Would be Acceptable

A Western Radical a Necessity If the Injunction Plank Falls, the Administration Adherents Believe

He Probably Will Accept

The Belief Is That While the Governor Is Not an Avowed Candidate, He Will Not Refuse the Nomination

Chicago June 17—It was the popular impression tonight among the delegates and with politicians that progress had been blocked in the matter of selecting a vice president. It was the impression also that the move was one which originated in Washington and was being engineered here by the friends of the President.

The committee on order of business also is in an ugly snarl over the proposed reduction of Southern representation. While these controversies are being waged the mind of the delegates is being diverted from the subject of the vice presidency. And this is exactly what the managers for Secretary Taft desire. They want the candidate, and the platform to represent a harmonious whole and not political purposes they want one to supplement the other. The candidacy of Vice President Fairbanks for re-nomination does not fit in with the administration plan. It is possible of course that the delegates will nominate Fairbanks anyhow but the popular impression is tonight that a candidate will be brought forward who will fit in with the platform which now is certain to be adopted.

President Roosevelt conferred over the telephone today with Senator Borah of Idaho and confirmed the statement sent by the Associated Press that either Cummins or Doherty would be satisfactory to him for the vice presidency. This information was conveyed to members of the Iowa delegation and produced consternation among the standpatters on that delegation. Lafayette Young of Des Moines the most violent of the Cummins crowd when informed of the President's position said:

What should he do is to run Cummins for vice president on the democratic ticket.

The position taken by the Doherty faction puts them in a dog-in-the-manger attitude and the Cummins factionists are rejoiced at the opportunity given the public for understanding the 'standpatters' method. One of the Cummins supporters on the state delegation said today:

The standpatters have declared that one of their own number shall not be chosen for vice president. Now they say that one of our number shall not be made vice president. They are determined that Iowa shall go without representation on the national ticket because they cannot see where their own faction is to be benefited by it. Their first argument was that the advocacy of Doherty was merely a Cummins trick in order to make a senatorial vacancy. They said we wanted to get Doherty out of state politics. Now the opportunity is presented of putting Cummins on the national ticket and the same statements if applied to Cummins would take him out of state politics. The action of the Doherty men is going to make Iowa democratic if continued and my opinion is that before this convention has adjourned the very men will be made to see the necessity of recognizing Cummins in order to save the state. Not a word will be heard from Governor Cummins. We are sending him no dispatches and are receiving none. He is willing to trust his case in our

Chicago June 18 3 30 p m
Special to Evening News

Representative Theodore Burton of Cleveland Ohio has just concluded the nominating speech in behalf of William Taft as the republican candidate for president of the United States and republican pandemonium has broken loose in the big Chicago coliseum. It appears that more than half of the delegates seated in the center of the 15 000 mass of cheering humanity have gone Taft mad and are doing their utmost to stampede the balance by rushing up and down the aisles waving banners and displaying all the enthusiasm that such a momentous occasion can be brought to inspire. Bird McGuire when the nominating speech was concluded grabbed the now famous flag of Oklahoma waved it aloft sprang at the head of the Oklahoma delegation and charged the convention.

Before the balloting begins Hughes of New York Fairbanks of cock tail fame Boss Cannon of Danville and Lafollette the radical are to be nominated. None have withdrawn their candidacy. It is thought that all nominating speeches will be concluded by 6 o'clock. It is confidently thought by the Taft leaders that the big giant will be nominated on the first ballot.

It remains uncertain still as to who will receive the vice presidential nomination. It looks like Cummins or Doherty of Iowa. The consideration of who should be selected for the second place has consumed much time and engendered much ill feeling. It appears that it is determined to select as radical republican as possible. The anti-injunction clause in modified and conservative manner went into the republican platform.

HASKELL'S DEFENSE OF FIRST LEGIS- LATURE

PRINT THE STATUTES.

The Public officials of the state, counties, municipalities, the lawyers, the business men, and others, must have a copy of the statute of the state. Heretofore a set of statutes included Wilson's Revised Statutes, and two books of session laws. The Guthrie State Capital had a corner on the law, and charged Twenty-one dollars and fifty cents for the set of three books. The session laws of the First State Legislature would probably have added five dollars for a complete set, if the Guthrie State Capital had not had its monopoly destroyed by act of the Legislature, which appropriated thirty thousand dollars to have ten thousand sets of the statutes printed.

Last Saturday the Secretary of State, with the aid and approval of the Supreme Court, made a contract that will furnish the complete statutes in one new volume at two dollars and sixty cents actual cost, having saved four thousand dollars out of the amount appropriated by the Legislature. As soon as these books are printed, you will be able to get in one volume, all the laws of the state, with the constitution of the state, and of the United States, and other contents at two dollars and sixty cents instead of paying the Guthrie State Capital about twenty-six dollars and fifty cents for their outfit. Thanks to Stewart, Davis, Taylor and Vandever and to our Secretary of State and Supreme Court.

hands. We do not propose that he shall be humiliated by defeat.

The nomination of Cummins is the much more probable result than the nomination of Dooliver. The Cummins supporters in Iowa are convinced that if the anti-injunction plank is defeated before the resolutions committee the President and Secretary Taft will then demand that Cummins be given the nomination. Their analysis of the situation is that the ticket should be strengthened either with a radical platform or a radical vice presidential candidate. The influences which are opposed to the anti-injunction plank are in the main those which always have fought the president and had to be whipped into line for Taft. Governor Cummins would be especially strong with the progressive republicans of the West. He was the original republican revisionist and has been a persistent advocate of railroad legislation. Governor Cummins is thoroughly satisfactory to organized labor and his followers believe that he would bring the ticket more votes in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota than any other man who would be named.

THE NEW YORKERS PETULANT

Because Hughes Won't Get In or Out
They are Knocking

Chicago, June 17.—The most persistent knockers around the different headquarters this afternoon were the New York state delegates, particularly those from the country. All efforts to induce Governor Hughes to release them from instructions had failed and they felt that tomorrow they must go to a slaughter which they seemed anxious to avoid. A little group in headquarters was discussing the situation.

"If we could only get away from this Hughes business," one said, "we could accomplish something, but as it is we must vote for him for local reasons. If Taft only needed fifty votes to be nominated on the first ballot, New York would furnish them, Hughes or no Hughes. But that would be doing something where we could get results. We aren't needed in the Taft bandwagon, so we can gain nothing in joining Taft. Under all circumstances there is nothing to do except to take our medicine."

The action of Governor Hughes may be serving an important public purpose. As long as New York delegates are held in line for Hughes they cannot get together and unite on a candidate for vice president and make a public fight for him. The quarrel over whether they will support James Sherman for vice president has grown so bitter that there was one knock-down fight between New York politicians over it. As long as the New Yorkers are at outs the Sherman boom has slim chance of getting very far.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a falling appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

The Vanishing Fleets

By ROY NORTON

Questions involving national dignity can be adjusted by better means than war, as can nearly all other questions which from time to time arise between governments; hence the United States urges that full powers of adjudication and arbitration be vested in a standing commission representing each nation, which shall have for its seat of office some place upon which the greater number may agree.

"The United States, having faith in the Anglo-Saxon race as representing one of the most peaceful and conservative, has formed an offensive and defensive alliance with Great Britain, through the personal efforts of the king and his prime minister. These two governments have no desire to act as peace officers for the world, but pledge themselves to place all their power at the command of the international commission for the enforcement of its findings."

The German emperor, true to his promise, was the first to give official ratification to the message, and added thereto his earnest entreaty that all powers might speedily join. He offered an eloquent argument in its behalf, fortified by his own observations, and reviewed the reasons why Germany had previously declined disarmament in conferences at The Hague. His attitude was that of impartiality.

No mention was made of the noted questions between Great Britain and his own country, which were later adjusted satisfactorily through the commission, and passed into history as the first dispute which that body was called upon to arbitrate.

There followed a brief lapse of days, in which the other nations of the earth studied this communication in temper according to their desires. It came as an amazing document in an epoch which was uprooting existing conditions and establishing new ones. The underlying threat of interference in any international war, however, made it patent that the wisest course would be in graceful acceptance. Hence it was that all the principal governments bound themselves in the compact. The last page had been written in the voluminous history of strife. The hissing of the barb, the retching of the catapult, the clangor of sword and buckler, and the booming of cannon, which in the course of time had succeeded each other, were sounds to be heard no more on land or sea. Peace had at last assumed its tranquil dominion.

When the last acceptance from the most laggardly nation was received, the news was made known to the silent man in the White House. It was on another night in summer when the moon cast its shadows over the city and the shining breast of the river. Still alone, but now beloved and understood by all his countrymen, he knelt by an open window, and, with a face glorified by the radiance of the night and his thoughts, thanked the God who had made him steadfast to accomplish his desire. The president, too, had reached his goal of dreams.

CUT WEEDS AND GET CLEAN
The citizens generally will recognize the urgency of the requirement of the city physician and the propriety of the mayor's proclamation that the weeds of the city be cut and a generally more sanitary condition sustained throughout the corporate limits

The continuity of the reign of J Pluvius forecasts a season of physical ailments as well as a period of mental depression and depleted purses and burdened hearts All these things happening at once would be quite enough to make decidedly obnoxious the usual anti-salutic clause in the ordinary life insurance policies the premiums for which are continually maturing Let Ada continue to be one of the healthiest communities in the great southwest Cleaning up Ada will be conducive to our good health and protective of our conscience Good health and good conscience in this city of substantial prospect and country of rare offerings for successful business achievement ought to sustain us through this era of flood diversity Cut the weeds Get clean

Notice From City Health Officers to Cut Weeds

Notice is hereby given to every citizen and householder in the city, that owing to the continued rains it is highly important that every precaution be taken to prevent the formation of stagnant pools of mud and water and the growth of weeds. Much sickness will probably result if these precautions are not taken. Every citizen is therefore requested to cut all the weeds about the place occupied by him, and to drain his premises the best he can. The city officers have been ordered to give their special attention to this matter, and to file criminal cases against all persons who fail to comply with the city ordinances on this subject within the next few days.

Respectfully,
M. W. Liron, City Physician.

Gwin-Sims

A most beautiful social function on Wednesday evening June 17th was the marriage of Mr Edwin Gwin to Miss Birdie Sims The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the brides parents Mr and Mrs Frank C Sims in the presence of intimate friends Rev T L Rippey in his easy impressive manner officiated

The guests were reminded, as the gentle strain of a violin solo rendered by Mrs Harry McReynolds fell on the ear that the sacred moment had arrived A beautiful vocal solo, I Love You, was sung by Mrs Carlton Weaver The bridal party was appropriately ushered in to the sweet strains of the wedding march by Mrs T P Holt the groom advancing on the arm of his best man, Mr C J Warren from one door, while the little flower girl Dorothy Mills led from an opposite direction the maid of honor, Miss Ula Clare Simms, sister of the bride beautifully gowned in white carrying pink roses Next came the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr Bernard Sims joining the groom before an improvised altar of trailing vines and ferns The bride always attractive was beautiful as the soft folds of her white wedding gown fell softly about her She carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses After congratulations, the bridal party with the guests were ushered into the dining room where delightful refreshments were served The bridegroom whose good fortune it has been to woo and win this most enviable prize is one of Adas most popular young men socially and a business man of influence and achievement Hailing from Tennessee a few years ago the state where everything is of the best how could we expect less

Quite a number of beautiful and useful presents attested the popularity of this young couple

Those out of town attending the wedding were Mr and Mrs Bernard Sims from Harts-horn and Mr McReynolds daughter and son from Paris Texas

These contracting parties in this nuptial affair are held in most cordial esteem by the entire News connection and best wishes and congratulations are extended

"MR. DOOLEY" ON FUNERALS.

Joyous Occasion in City Boy's Life, According to Humorist.

"When I was a little boy, I clasped funerals among the greatest of my adventures. They give me a ride in a hack through parts of town that I'd never seen before and out into the country where I never went except I was invited to a funeral, and I had joyous company and something to eat different from what I got at home. Looking back on how I felt when I was a kid, I can't remember that any distant relation made himself unpopular with us by dying. Even if I wasn't let to go to a funeral there was something exciting about it. It stirred up the neighborhood. There was something to talk about. Irvybody asked: 'Did he leave anything?' as if the poor man was a burglar or a fire. People got out their good clothes and dusted off their high hats. On the day of the funeral all the children in the neighborhood gathered around the house and envied their little playmates that had the luck to lose a fond parent."—F. P. Dunne, in American Magazine.

A Poor System.

Eustace Miles, the noted English athlete and food expert, said at a recent vegetarian dinner in Chicago: "They who, with rich sauces and exciting meats, weaken their digestion in the effort to strengthen their bodies, practice a very poor system indeed. 'Such people are like the embarrassed motorist who pawned his automobile in order to raise $250 for a new set of tires.'"

Ada Evening News

ADA, OKLA.

The Road to Content.

It is frequently said that a family can live for much less in England than in America, although the details are seldom given in support of the statement. A committee of representative English workmen, which visited America not long ago, has reported that there is practically no difference in the price of food in the two countries, and that in some parts of England provisions are more expensive than in New York. Rent is higher here than in Great Britain. But even with the greater rent the American workman is better off, for his wages are so much higher than those paid on the other side that, as the committee has reported, the American can save two dollars as easily as the Englishman 50 cents. The contented workman is the one who saves 50 cents or two dollars, rather than the one who complains that his wages are so small that he can save nothing. The newspapers noted the death the other day of a man in Scotland who had never earned more than eight dollars a week, yet had educated two of his five children well enough for them to enter the learned professions, and had a surplus of movable property worth $2,000. There is in a New England town, relates the Youths' Companion, a shoemaker who, when he was a young man, resolved that he would save enough out of his wages to be able to retire and live on his interest at the age of 60. He retired at the age of 58, with a home and a competency; yet he never received more than $15 a week. It is men of this type the world over who are the bone and sinew of their respective countries. In democracies such as England and America they control in a real sense the national policies. The cost of living does not trouble them very much, for they have schooled themselves to adjusting their immediate wants to the necessity of providing for a future when they may rest from their labors.

Small sympathy need be expended on the New Yorkers who were taken in by fake pictures, which they imagined were works of art over which old masters had labored, whereas they were copies by art students. If a New Yorker or anyone else desires to spend his money for age rather than for art let him do so, but if he admires the pictures of the old masters for their great beauty and superior merit, where is the harm if he gets one of the same kind, only more beautiful and several hundred years fresher? Indeed, we have long thought that the printing presses should be started up, so that everybody who desired them could have the old masters. We do not see why a line of old masters should not be put on the market which would make the originals look as if they had been dragged from a second-hand store.

On the other hand, Canon Jephson, a member of the Mosely commission, which recently visited the United States, controverts the statement of Sir William Henry Preece that the American boy is mentally two years ahead of the European boy. According to Canon Jephson the American boy's progress is retarded by the American system of co-education and the preponderance of American women teachers. This is rather hard on the American schoolmarm, though we have lately heard the same idea expressed on this side of the water by some of our own educators. So, remarks the Boston Herald, the Jephson utterance can scarcely be termed a casus belli.

Benefits from the American rule in Cuba continue to be manifested. Dr. Doty, health officer of the port of New York, has just returned from a visit to the island, which he reports in exceptionally clean and healthful condition, so that certificates from the physicians in charge in Havana will be sufficient to admit passengers from that city to New York without inspection at the latter port. Cuba under present rules and regulations is no longer a standing alarm against serious and death-dealing disease.

The South Orange (N. J.) council has passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for a dog to bark between midnight and sunrise. Isn't the South Orange council a little unreasonable? How can a dog be expected to watch the calendar with sufficient care to be able to determine what minute the sun will rise day after day?

If the inventor who claims to have discovered the secret of manufacturing gold expects to get people to accept his product as the real thing he will have to seek out some almost inaccessible and wholly desolate region in which to establish his plant.

The man who failed in his effort to predict an earthquake should not be discouraged. Earthquakes are mighty hard to predict, being notoriously large and unwieldy and difficult to tame.

FARMERS WAKE UP. Your last chance to buy a farm in the Garden Spot of the United States, in Atascosa County, Texas, near San Antonio. From 10 to 640 acres and two town lots for $210. Write for literature and views. Dr. Chas. F. Simmons, San Antonio, Texas.

BAD ITCHING HUMOR.

Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw—Feet Swollen—Sleep Broken—Cured in 2 Days by Cuticura.

"Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. For two or three weeks the suffering was intense and during that time I did not sleep an hour at a time. Then one morning I tried a bit of Cuticura. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. George B. Farley, 50 South State St., Concord, N. H., May 14, 1907."

JUST A TOUCH OF SATIRE.

Little Note That Probably Made Mean Employer Wince.

Prof. Charles Zueblin, the brilliant and original sociologist of the University of Chicago, enunciated before the League of Political Education in New York a superb epigram: "He who begins with saving to protect his family may end with neglecting his family to save."

Discussing the dangers of immoderate saving Prof. Zueblin said the other day: "It's by saving immoderately that we come to inserting want advertisements like one I saw recently: 'Wanted, capable office boy; salary, $1 a week.'"

"A young man of Seminary avenue, noticing this advertisement, couldn't resist replying to it. His reply ran: 'I beg to offer you my services. Should you require a premium I could furnish $500. You do not mention Sundays—should I have to work on that day? Neither do you state whether the applicant must be clothed or not, but I have concluded that he must at least wear trousers, or he would be unable to carry home his wages.'"

Triumph of Mind.

Victim of Delusion—Doctor, I'm awfully afraid I'm going to have brain fever.

Doctor—Pooh, pooh, my dear friend! That's all an illusion of the senses. There is no such thing as fever. You have no fever, you have no brain—no material substance upon which such a wholly imaginary and supposititious thing as a fever could find any base of operation.

Victim—Oh, doctor, what a load you have taken from me—from my—I have a mind, haven't I, doctor?

THE FIRST TASTE

Learned to Drink Coffee When a Baby.

If parents realized the fact that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which is especially harmful to children, they would doubtless hesitate before giving the babies coffee to drink.

"When I was a child in my mother's arms and first began to nibble things at the table, mother used to give me sips of coffee. As my parents used coffee exclusively at meals I never knew there was anything to drink but coffee and water."

"And so I contracted the coffee habit early. I remember when quite young, the continual use of coffee so affected my parents that they tried roasting wheat and barley, then ground it in the coffee-mill, as a substitute for coffee."

"But it did not taste right and they went back to coffee again. That was long before Postum was ever heard of. I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work, I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence."

"At night, after having coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous."

"A friend persuaded me to try Postum. My wife and I did not like it at first, but later when 'billed good and strong it was fine. Now we would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever tasted."

"I can now get good sleep, am free from nervousness and headaches. I recommend Postum to all coffee drinkers."

MRS. WILLIAM TAFT

SOMETHING REGARDING WIFE OF SECRETARY OF WAR.

Keenly Interested in Art, Music, Literature and Education—Did Year's Shopping in Paris in Three Hours.

Washington.—"What kind of a woman is Mrs. Taft?" is a question which is being asked in that large area of the country where public opinion centers on the national Republican convention to be held soon in Chicago.

There are many definitions to be given in replying to the question, for Mrs. Taft is a many-sided woman interested in various things.

The government's attitude toward art and music is a pregnant theme in every community, and Mrs. Taft is keenly interested in all that means the practical aid of both. "But I cannot say that I think the time is ripe to ask for government aid. The work along both lines must take a more definite character," said Mrs. Taft to the writer.

"But I am heartily in favor of the government taking the tax off works of art as a preliminary step to aid the arts and crafts industry."

"I have always believed that women should vote. I favor bestowing on them every civic right, but I should like to put in a prohibitory clause debarring them from running for public office. I think the natural scheme would be disjointed and the end and aim of the home destroyed."

Mrs. Taft devotes some part of every day to the study of languages, French and Spanish being her favorites. Few mistresses of the White House have known the continental tongues, something which has prevented a familiar knowledge of that fascinating part of society in Washington, the diplomatic corps. She is well equipped in this particular. She reads musical reviews from every part of the world where music is a power, in addition to magazines devoted to public questions and the best current literature.

Foreign travel after reading and music is Mrs. Taft's delight. She talks most entertainingly of her recent sojourn in the Orient, and never wearies of relating the incidents and adventures of the journey across the Pacific, through the Philippines, China and Japan, thence across the Siberian railroad to St. Petersburg.

"I am very proud of the fact," she said, "that owing to stress of time, I accomplished the impossible—that is, what most people will designate, the impossible. I had but three hours to spend in Paris, yet I shopped for a year, bought lingerie gowns, hats and other garments, not only for myself, but for my daughter and some friends who had entrusted me with commissions."

"I telegraphed to a firm with which I had dealt and asked to have these things ready for inspection. I jumped in a cab on arriving in Paris, and went directly to the store. I tried on things, was fitted, measured and generally inspected for the outer garments in less than an hour, and all the remaining time I could look at novelties and select the smaller things."

"It is not a soothing experience for one's nerves, but still, shopping for a year can be accomplished in three hours when necessary."

Mrs. Taft is attractive in appearance and very girlish. She is tall and slender with deep gray eyes and soft brown hair, has a frank, pleasant manner in conversation, and talks straight to the point.

There are three children in the Taft family, Robert, who is 19, and in the sophomore year at Yale; Miss Helen, who will be 17 in the autumn, who is about to graduate from the Baldwin school at Bryn Mawr, and who has elected to spend four years more at school, if her mother will consent, and Charles P. Taft, second, ten years old and named after his uncle, the millionaire editor of Cincinnati. "Charlie Boy," as he is fondly called at home, kept a faithful diary of his recent tour around the world, and it would make pleasant reading if his father would consent to its publication.

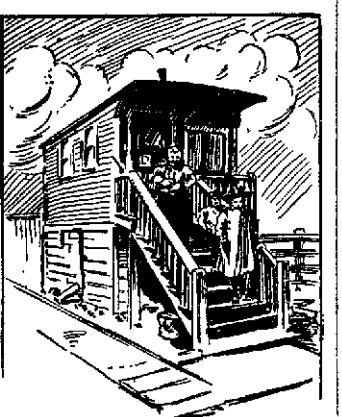

Mrs. Taft is the daughter of Judge Herron, law partner of President Hayes, of Cincinnati, and she passed part of her girlhood in Washington as the guest of Mrs. Hayes in the White House.

SMALLEST HOUSE ON LARGE LOT.

Structure Was Transformed from Photograph Car by Old Couple.

Chicago.—The smallest and oddest abode that occupies a whole building lot in all Chicago may be found at 10518 Calhoun avenue, South Deering. This structure has just been completed by Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Trow, who at an advanced age are living the happiest kind of life in the one and only home they ever have been able to call their own.

Originally the upper part of the structure was the cab of a photograph car that had been rolled through the country and which had made stands in half the states of the union. The Trows bought the car on wheels for $90. They rolled it into a corner of a big coal yard and lived in it for two years. Then the husband, who is in the employ of the Illinois Steel Company, bought a lot on Calhoun avenue. The vehicle was hauled out of the coal yard and backed in on the big lot. There the body of the car was jacked up about six feet and a new story built under it. The original entrance is still accessible, made so by constructing a stairway to what is now the second story.

In this little building Mr. and Mrs. Trow have cast to the winds all custom as to interior arrangements. The first room is the kitchen, the parlor and bedroom being in one at the rear. The entire car was originally about 18 feet long, eight feet wide and eight feet high, and these dimensions have neither been increased nor diminished since the cab was hoisted off its trucks excepting for the making of the lower floor. The home as it now stands cost the Trows less than $300, including the lot, which is 25 feet wide and 125 feet deep.

The happy pair who are occupying this odd little home are both English. Mr. Trow having been born in Staffordshire and the wife in Lancashire. They have been in this country 25 years.

summer, is the publisher of the Brooklyn Standard Union. He has been much interested in arctic exploration for many years and was the historian of the Peary expedition of 1894 and in command of the Peary relief expeditions of 1899 and 1901. He was delegate to the arctic congress of 1906 at Brussels.

Ever Do This?

A Washington artist was showing a visitor through his rooms one day, pointing out the various objects of peculiar interest, when the caller stopped before an antique clock, which, just at that moment, had struck the half-hour.

"Do you know," asked the visitor, "I've often wondered what was the use of a clock that strikes every half-hour?"

"Well," said the artist, after a slight pause of reflection, "it has this advantage: If you are lying awake at night and hear it strike one three-half-hours in succession, you know that when you hear it again it will be two o'clock."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Pacific Coast Fishing Industry.

The fishing industry of the Pacific coast during 1907 exceeded $26,000,000 in value, according to the statistics of the Pacific Fisherman. The pack of canned salmon during 1907 for the whole coast was 4,015,169 cases, as compared with 3,817,316 cases in 1906. The pack in Alaska was exceeded in only one other year, that of 1902.

ANGRY CITIZEN PUT ORDEAL UP TO STREET CAR COMPANY.

Not long ago there entered the office of the superintendent of a trolley line in Detroit an angry citizen, demanding "justice" in no uncertain terms.

In response to the official's gentle inquiry touching the cause of the demand, the angry citizen explained that on the day previous as his wife was boarding one of the company's cars, the conductor thereof had stepped on his spouse's dress, tearing from it more than a yard of material. "I can't see that we are to blame for that," protested the superintendent. "What do you expect us to do, get her a new dress?"

"No, sir, I do not," rejoined the angry citizen, brandishing a piece of cloth. "What I propose is that you people shall match this material."—Harper's Weekly.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

CUMMINS LOOMS UP

The Boom for the Iowa Governor Received Much Consideration Yesterday in Chicago

PRESIDENT APPROVES HIM

Senator Borah Heard by Telephone From Washington on That the Hawkeye Man Would be Acceptable

A Western Radical a Necessity If the Injunction Plank Falls, the Administration Adherents Believe

He Probably Will Accept

The Belief Is That While the Governor Is Not an Avowed Candidate, He Will Not Refuse the Nomination

Chicago, June 17.—It was the popular impression tonight among the delegates and with politicians that progress had been blocked in the matter of selecting a vice president. It was the impression also that the move was one which originated in Washington and was being engineered here by the friends of the President.

The committee on order of business also is in an ugly snarl over the proposed reduction of Southern representation. While these controversies are being waged the mind of the delegates is being diverted from the subject of the vice presidency. And this is exactly what the managers for Secretary Taft desire. They want the candidates and the platform to represent a harmonious whole and for political purposes they want one to supplement the other. The candidacy of Vice President Fairbanks for renomination does not fit in with the administration plan. It is possible, of course, that the delegates will nominate Fairbanks anyhow, but the popular impression is tonight that a candidate will be brought forward who will fit in with the platform, which now is certain to be adopted.

President Roosevelt conferred over the telephone today with Senator Borah of Idaho and confirmed the statement sent by the Associated Press that either Cummins or Doherty would be satisfactory to him for the vice presidency. This information was conveyed to members of the Iowa delegation and produced consternation among the standpaters on that delegation. Lafayette Young of Des Moines, the most violent of the Cummins crowd, when informed of the President's position, said:

"What should be done is to run Cummins for vice president on the democratic ticket."

The position taken by the Doherty-Allison faction puts them in a dog-in-the-manger attitude and the Cummins factionists are rejoiced at the opportunity given the public for understanding the "standpatter's" method. One of the Cummins supporters on the state delegation said today:

"The standpaters have declared that one of their own number shall not be chosen for vice president. Now they say that one of our number shall not be made vice president. They are determined that Iowa shall go without representation on the national ticket because they cannot see where their own faction is to be benefited by it. Their first argument was that the advocacy of Doherty was merely a Cummins trick in order to make a senatorial vacancy. They said we wanted to get Doherty out of state politics. Now the opportunity is presented of putting Cummins on the national ticket and the same statements, if applied to Cummins, would take him out of state politics. The action of the Doherty men is going to make Iowa democratic if continued and my opinion is that before this convention has adjourned these very men will be made to see the necessity of recognizing Cummins in order to save the state. Not one word will be heard from Governor Cummins. We are sending him no dispatches and are receiving none. He is willing to trust his case in our

IT'S TAFT

Chicago, June 18, 3:30 p. m.
Special to Evening News.

Representative Theodore Burton of Cleveland, Ohio, has just concluded the nominating speech in behalf of William Taft as the republican candidate for president of the United States and republican pandemonium has broken loose in the big Chicago coliseum. It appears that more than half of the delegates seated in the center of the 15,000 mass of cheering humanity have gone Taft mad and are doing their utmost to stampede the balance by rushing up and down the aisles waving banners and displaying all the enthusiasm that such a momentous occasion can be brought to inspire. Bird McGuire when the nominating speech was concluded, grabbed the now famous flag of Oklahoma, waved it aloft, sprang at the head of the Oklahoma delegation and charged the convention.

Before the blotting begins, Hughes of New York, Fairbanks of cock-tail fame, Boss Cannon of Danville and Lafollette, the radical are to be nominated. None have withdrawn their candidacy. It is thought that all nominating speeches will be concluded by 6 o'clock. It is confidently thought by the Taft leaders that the big giant will be nominated on the first ballot.

It remains uncertain still as to who will receive the vice presidential nomination. It looks like Cummins or Doherty of Iowa. The consideration of who should be selected for the second place has consumed much time and engendered much ill feeling. It appears that it is determined to select as radical a republican as possible. The anti-injunction clause in modified and conservative manner went into the republican platform.

HASKELL'S DEFENSE OF FIRST LEGIS- LATURE

PRINT THE STATUTES.

The Public officials of the state, counties, municipalities, the lawyers, the business men, and others, must have a copy of the statute of the state. Heretofore a set of statutes included Wilson's Revised Statutes, and two books of session laws. The Guthrie State Capital had a corner on the law, and charged twenty-one dollars and fifty cents for the set of three books. The session laws of the First State Legislature would probably have added five dollars for a complete set, if the Guthrie State Capital had not had its monopoly destroyed by act of the Legislature, which appropriated thirty thousand dollars to have ten thousand sets of the statutes printed.

Last Saturday the Secretary of State, with the aid and approval of the Supreme Court, made a contract that will furnish the complete statutes in one new volume at two dollars and sixty cents actual cost, having saved four thousand dollars out of the amount appropriated by the Legislature. As soon as these books are printed, you will be able to get in one volume, all the laws of the state, with the constitution of the state, and of the United States, and other contents at two dollars and sixty cents instead of paying the Guthrie State Capital about twenty-six dollars and fifty cents for their outfit. Thanks to Stewart, Davis, Taylor and Vandeventer and to our Secretary of State and Supreme Court.

hands. We do not propose that he shall be humiliated by defeat.

The nomination of Cummins is much more probable result than the nomination of Dooliver. The Cummins supporters in Iowa are convinced that if the anti-injunction plank is defeated before the resolutions committee the President and Secretary Taft will then demand that Cummins be given the nomination. Their analysis of the situation is that the ticket should be strengthened either with a radical platform or a radical vice presidential candidate. The influences which are opposed to the anti-injunction plank are in the main those which always have fought the president and had to be whipped into line for Taft. Governor Cummins would be especially strong with the progressive republicans of the West. He was the original republican revisionist and has been a persistent advocate of railroad legislation. Governor Cummins is thoroughly satisfactory to organized labor and his followers believe that he would bring the ticket more votes in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota than any other man who could be named.

THE NEW YORKERS PETULANT

Because Hughes Won't Get In or Out
They are Knocking

Chicago, June 17.—The most persistent knockers around the different headquarters this afternoon were the New York state delegates, particularly those from the country. All efforts to induce Governor Hughes to release them from instructions had failed and they felt that tomorrow they must go to a slaughter which they seemed anxious to avoid. A little group in headquarters was discussing the situation.

"If we could only get away from this Hughes business," one said, "we could accomplish something, but as it is we must vote for him for local reasons. If Taft only needed fifty votes to be nominated on the first ballot, New York would furnish them, Hughes or no Hughes. But that would be doing something where we could get results. We aren't needed in the Taft bandwagon, so we can gain nothing in joining Taft. Under all circumstances there is nothing to do except to take our medicine."

The action of Governor Hughes may be serving an important public purpose. As long as New York delegates are held in line for Hughes they cannot get together and unite on a candidate for vice president and make a public fight for him. The quarrel over whether they will support James Sherman for vice president has grown so bitter that there was one knock-down fight between New York politicians over it. As long as the New Yorkers are at outs the Sherman boom has slim chance of getting very far.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

The Vanishing Fleets

By ROY NORTON

Questions involving national dignity can be adjusted by better means than war, as can nearly all other questions which from time to time arise between governments; hence the United States urges that full powers of adjudication and arbitration be vested in a standing commission representing each nation, which shall have for its seat of office some place upon which the greater number may agree.

"The United States, having faith in the Anglo-Saxon race, as representing one of the most peaceful and conservative, has formed an offensive and defensive alliance with Great Britain, through the personal efforts of the king and his prime minister. These two governments have no desire to act as peace officers for the world, but pledge themselves to place all their power at the command of the international commission for the enforcement of its findings."

The German emperor, true to his promise, was the first to give official ratification to the message, and added thereto his earnest entreaty that all powers might speedily join. He offered an eloquent argument in its behalf, fortified by his own observations, and reviewed the reasons why Germany had previously declined disarmament in conferences at The Hague. His attitude was that of impartiality.

And no mention was made of the mooted questions between Great Britain and his own country, which were later adjusted satisfactorily through the commission, and passed into history as the first dispute which that body was called upon to arbitrate.

There followed a brief lapse of days, in which the other nations of the earth studied this communication in temper according to their desires. It came as an amazing document in an epoch which was uprooting existing conditions and establishing new ones. The underlying threat of interference in any international war, however, made it patent that the wisest course would be in graceful acceptance. Hence it was that all the principal governments bound themselves in the compact. The last page had been written in the voluminous history of strife. The hissing of the barb, the retching of the catapult, the clangor of sword and buckler, and the booming of cannon, which in the course of time had succeeded each other, were sounds to be heard no more on land or sea. Peace had at last assumed its tranquil dominion.

When the last acceptance from the most laggardly nation was received, the news was made known to the silent man in the White House. It was on another night in summer when the moon cast its shadows over the city and the shining breast of the river. Still alone, but now beloved and understood by all his countrymen, he knelt by an open window, and, with a face glorified by the radiance of the night and his thoughts, thanked the God who had made him steadfast to accomplish his desire. The president, too, had reached his goal of dreams.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the onset stage—they break, or head off these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Preventics are Little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no pharls, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child. If there is feverishness, night or day, home probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 10 boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggist giving you

Notice is hereby given to every cit-owing to the continued rains it is highly important that every precau-

Much sickness will probably result if these precautions are not taken. Ev-cut all the weeds about the place oc-special attention to this matter, and to file criminal cases against all per-

Mrs. Della Meanes, 323 E. Front St., Maysville, Ky., says: "Seven years ago I began to notice sharp pain in the kidneys and a bearing down sensation through the hips, dull headache and dizzy spells. Dropsy appeared, and my feet and ankles swelled so I could not get my shoes on. I was in misery, and had despaired of ever getting cured when I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. One box helped me so much that I kept on until entirely cured."

"MR. DOOLEY" ON FUNERALS.

Joyous Occasion in City Boy's Life, According to Humorist.

"When I was a little boy, I classed funerals among the greatest of my adventures. They give me a ride in a hack through parts of town that I'd never seen before and out into the country where I never went except I was invited to a funeral, and I had joyal company and something to eat different from what I got at home. Looking back on how I felt when I was a kid, I can't remember that any distant relation made himself unpopular with us by dying. Even if I wasn't let to go to a funeral there was something exciting about it. It stirred up the neighborhood. There was something to talk about. Irvybody asked: 'Did he leave anything?' as if the poor man was a burglar or a fire. People got out their good clothes and dusted off their high hats. On the day of the funeral all the children in the neighborhood gathered around the house and envied their little playmates that had the luck to lose a fond parent."—F. P. Dunne, in American Magazine.

A Poor System.

Eustace Miles, the noted English athlete and food expert, said at a recent vegetarian dinner in Chicago: "They who, with rich sauces and exciting meats, weaken their digestion in the effort to strengthen their bodies, practice a very poor system indeed. 'Such people are like the embarrassed motorist who pawned his automobile in order to raise $250 for a new set of tires.'"

ADA, OKLA.

The Road to Content.

It is frequently said that a family can live for much less in England than in America, although the details are seldom given in support of the statement. A committee of representative English workmen, which visited America not long ago, has reported that there is practically no difference in the price of food in the two countries, and that in some parts of England provisions are more expensive than in New York. Rent is higher here than in Great Britain. But even with the greater rent the American workman is better off, for his wages are so much higher than those paid on the other side that, as the committee has reported, the American can save two dollars as easily as the Englishman 50 cents. The contented workman is the one who saves 50 cents or two dollars, rather than the one who complains that his wages are so small that he can save nothing. The newspapers noted the death the other day of a man in Scotland who had never earned more than eight dollars a week, yet had educated two of his five children well enough for them to enter the learned professions, and had a surplus of movable property worth $2,000. There is in a New England town, relates the Youths' Companion, a shoe-worker who, when he was a young man, resolved that he would save enough out of his wages to be able to retire and live on his interest at the age of 60. He retired at the age of 58, with a home and a competency; yet he never received more than $15 a week. It is men of this type the world over who are the bone and sinew of their respective countries. In democracies such as England and America they control in a real sense the national policies. The cost of living does not trouble them very much, for they have schooled themselves to adjusting their immediate wants to the necessity of providing for a future when they may rest from their labors.

Small sympathy need be expended on the New Yorkers who were taken in by fake pictures, which they imagined were works of art over which old masters had labored, whereas they were copies by art students. If a New Yorker or anyone else desires to spend his money for art rather than for art let him do so, but if he admires the pictures of the old masters for their great beauty and superior merit, where is the harm if he gets one of the same kind, only more beautiful and several hundred years fresher? Indeed, we have long thought that the printing presses should be started up, so that everybody who desired them could have the old masters. We do not see why a line of old masters should not be put on the market which would make the originals look as if they had been dragged from a second-hand store.

On the other hand, Canon Jephson, a member of the Mosely commission, which recently visited the United States, controverts the statement of Sir William Henry Preece that the American boy is mentally two years ahead of the European boy. According to Canon Jephson the American boy's progress is retarded by the American system of co-education and the preponderance of American women teachers. This is rather hard on the American schoolmarm, though we have lately heard the same idea expressed on this side of the water by some of our own educators. So, remarks the Boston Herald, the Jephson utterance can scarcely be termed a casus belli.

Benefits from the American rule in Cuba continue to be manifested. Dr. Doty, health officer of the port of New York, has just returned from a visit to the island, which he reports in exceptionally clean and healthful condition, so that certificates from the physicians in charge in Havana will be sufficient to admit passengers from that city to New York without inspection at the latter port. Cuba under present rules and regulations is no longer a standing alarm against serious and death-dealing disease.

The South Orange (N. J.) council has passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for a dog to bark between midnight and sunrise. Isn't the South Orange council a little unreasonable? How can a dog be expected to watch the calendar with sufficient care to be able to determine what minute the sun will rise day after day?

BAD ITCHING HUMOR.

Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw—Feet Swollen—Sleep Broken—Cured in 2 Days by Cuticura.

"Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. For two or three weeks the suffering was intense and during that time I did not sleep an hour at a time. Then one morning I tried a bit of Cuticura. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. George B. Farley, 50 South State St., Concord, N. H., May 14, 1907."

JUST A TOUCH OF SATIRE.

Little Note That Probably Made Mean Employer Wince.

Prof. Charles Zueblin, the brilliant and original sociologist of the University of Chicago, enunciated before the League of Political Education in New York a superb epigram: "He who begins with saving to protect his family may end with neglecting his family to save."

Discussing the dangers of immoderate saving Prof. Zueblin said the other day:

"It's by saving immoderately that we come to inserting want advertisements like one I saw recently: 'Wanted, capable office boy; salary, $1 a week.'"

"A young man of Seminary avenue, noticing this advertisement, couldn't resist replying to it. His reply ran: 'I beg to offer you my services. Should you require a premium I could furnish $500. You do not mention Sundays—should I have to work on that day? Neither do you state whether the applicant must be clothed or not, but I have concluded that he must at least wear trousers, or he would be unable to carry home his wages.'"

Triumph of Mind.

Victim of Delusion—Doctor, I'm awfully afraid I'm going to have brain fever.

Doctor—Pooh, pooh, my dear friend! That's all an illusion of the senses. There is no such thing as fever. You have no fever, you have no brain—no material substance upon which such a wholly imaginary and supposititious thing as a fever could find any base of operation.

Victim—Oh, doctor, what a load you have taken from my—from my—I have a mind, haven't I, doctor?

THE FIRST TASTE

Learned to Drink Coffee When a Baby.

If parents realized the fact that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which is especially harmful to children, they would doubtless hesitate before giving the babies coffee to drink.

"When I was a child in my mother's arms and first began to nibble things at the table, mother used to give me sips of coffee. As my parents used coffee exclusively at meals I never knew there was anything to drink but coffee and water.

"And so I contracted the coffee habit early. I remember when quite young, the continual use of coffee so affected my parents that they tried roasting wheat and barley, then ground it in the coffee-mill, as a substitute for coffee. But it did not taste right and they went back to coffee again. That was long before Postum was ever heard of. I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work, I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence.

"At night, after having coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous.

"A friend persuaded me to try Postum. My wife and I did not like it at first, but later when 'boiled good and strong it was fine. Now we would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever tasted.

"I can now get good sleep, am free from nervousness and headaches. I recommend Postum to all coffee drinkers.

MRS. WILLIAM TAFT

SOMETHING REGARDING WIFE OF SECRETARY OF WAR.

Keenly Interested in Art, Music, Literature and Education—Did Year's Shopping in Paris in Three Hours.

Washington.—"What kind of a woman is Mrs. Taft?" is a question which is being asked in that large area of the country where public opinion centers on the national Republican convention to be held soon in Chicago.

There are many definitions to be given in reply to the question, for Mrs. Taft is a many-sided woman interested in various things.

The government's attitude toward art and music is a pregnant theme in every community, and Mrs. Taft is keenly interested in all that means the practical aid of both. "But I cannot say that I think the time is ripe to ask for government aid. The work along both lines must take a more definite character," said Mrs. Taft to the writer.

"But I am heartily in favor of the government taking the tax off works of art as a preliminary step to aid the arts and crafts industry.

"I have always believed that women should vote. I favor bestowing on them every civic right, but I should like to put in a prohibitory clause debarring them from running for public office. With women running for public office, I think the natural scheme would be disjointed and the end and aim of the home destroyed."

Mrs. Taft devotes some part of every day to the study of languages, French and Spanish being her favorites. Few mistresses of the White House have known the continental tongues, something which has prevented a familiar knowledge of that fascinating part of society in Washington, the diplomatic corps. She is well equipped in this particular. She reads musical reviews from every part of the world where music is a power, in addition to magazines devoted to public questions and the best current literature.

Foreign travel after reading and music is Mrs. Taft's delight. She talks most entertainingly of her recent sojourn in the Orient, and never wearies of relating the incidents and adventures of the journey across the Pacific, through the Philippines, China and Japan, thence across the Siberian railroad to St. Petersburg.

"I am very proud of the fact," she said, "that owing to stress of time, I accomplished the impossible—that is, what most people will designate, the impossible. I had but three hours to spend in Paris, yet I shopped for a year, bought lingerie gowns, hats and other garments, not only for myself, but for my daughter and some friends who had entrusted me with commissions.

"I telegraphed to a firm with which I had dealt and asked to have these things ready for inspection. I jumped in a cab on arriving in Paris, and went directly to the store. I tried on things, was fitted, measured and generally inspected for the outer garments in less than an hour, and all the remaining time I could look at novelties and select the smaller things.

"It is not a soothing experience for one's nerves, but still, shopping for a year can be accomplished in three hours when necessary."

Mrs. Taft is attractive in appearance and very girlish. She is tall and slender with deep gray eyes and soft brown hair, has a frank, pleasant manner in conversation, and talks straight to the point.

There are three children in the Taft family, Robert, who is 19, and in the sophomore year at Yale; Miss Helen, who will be 17 in the autumn, who is about to graduate from the Baldwin school at Bryn Mawr, and who has elected to spend four years more at school, if her mother will consent, and Charles P. Taft, second, ten years old and named after his uncle, the millionaire editor of Cincinnati. "Charlie Boy," as he is fondly called at home, kept a faithful diary of his recent tour around the world, and it would make pleasant reading if his father would consent to its publication.

Mrs. Taft is the daughter of Judge Herron, law partner of President Hayes, of Cincinnati, and she passed part of her girlhood in Washington as the guest of Mrs. Hayes in the White House.

SMALLEST HOUSE ON LARGE LOT.

Structure Was Transformed from Photograph Car by Old Couple.

Chicago.—The smallest and oddest abode that occupies a whole building lot in all Chicago may be found at 16518 Calhoun avenue, South Deering. This structure has just been completed by Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Trow, who at an advanced age are living the happiest kind of life in the one and only home they ever have been able to call their own.

Originally the upper part of the structure was the cab of a photograph car that had been rolled through the country and which had made stands in half the states of the union. The Trows bought the car on wheels for $90. They rolled it into a corner of a big coal yard and lived in it for two years. Then the husband, who is in the employ of the Illinois Steel Company, bought a lot on Calhoun avenue. The vehicle was hauled out of the coal yard and backed in on the big lot. There the body of the car was jacked up about six feet and a new story built under it. The original entrance is still accessible, made so by constructing a stairway to what is now the second story.

In this little building Mr. and Mrs. Trow have cast to the winds all custom as to interior arrangements. The first room is the kitchen, the parlor and bedroom being in one at the rear. The entire car was originally about 18 feet long, eight feet wide and eight feet high, and these dimensions have neither been increased nor diminished since the cab was hoisted off its trucks excepting for the making of the lower floor. The home as it now stands cost the Trows less than $300, including the lot, which is 25 feet wide and 125 feet deep.

The happy pair who are occupying this odd little home are both English. Mr. Trow having been born in Staffordshire and the wife in Lancashire. They have been in this country 25 years.

He was delegate to the arctic congress of 1906 at Brussels.

Ever Do This?

A Washington artist was showing a visitor through his rooms one day, pointing out the various objects of peculiar interest, when the caller stopped before an antique clock, which, just at that moment, had struck the half-hour.

"Do you know," asked the visitor, "I've often wondered what was the use of a clock that strikes every half-hour?"

"Well," said the artist, after a slight pause of reflection, "it has this advantage: If you are lying awake at night and hear it strike one three-half-hours in succession, you know that when you hear it again it will be two o'clock."

ANGRY CITIZEN PUT ORDEAL UP TO STREET CAR COMPANY.

Not long ago there entered the office of the superintendent of a trolley line in Detroit an angry citizen, demanding "justice" in no uncertain terms.

In response to the official's gentle inquiry touching the cause of the demand, the angry citizen explained that on the day previous as his wife was boarding one of the company's cars, the conductor thereof had stepped on his spouse's dress, tearing from it more than a yard of material. "I can't see that we are to blame for that," protested the superintendent. "What do you expect us to do, get her a new dress?"

"No, sir, I do not," rejoined the angry citizen, brandishing a piece of cloth. "What I propose is that you people shall match this material."—Harper's Weekly.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help you. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of

to conquer all female diseases. Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, nervous prostration,
